

Day 3 journal entry

Samantha Sun

What are some of the differences you've noticed between a school environment and a professional work environment?

To start, in school, students are obligated to complete certain tasks despite their interests or passions. We are also expected to do exams and keep up with a pre-determined curriculum. Additionally, we mostly only interact with our classmates in our courses or the teachers we are given. However, in a professional work environment, it is encouraged to branch out and talk to all sorts of people, even if we don't work with them directly. Another difference is that the professional environment also encourages us to chase after our passions and things we are interested in, rather than stick to the schedules given to us. There's also no grades or exams, so we are perceived by our professional brand, our work, and effort.
