Day 3 journal entry

Matthew Roach

Prompt option 3: What are some of the differences you've noticed between a school environment and a professional work environment?
The main difference that I've noticed between the two environments is the standard for professionalism. In school, the dress code is very relaxed, and most people will talk to each other casually. In contrast, a work environment holds a much higher standard for dress, and most of the people I interact with act in a professional manner. I've also found that the difference in quality of services is quite large. My school does not serve a wide variety of food, while Red Hat has multiple menus worth of food choices. The company also has an open-access gym. Overall, I've found that a work environment is both more professional and in higher quality than a school environment.
