Prompt option 3: What are some of the differences you've noticed between a school environment and a professional work environment?

In a professional work environment, we are held to a higher standard. There's a lot more work and responsibility compared to a school environment which has a lot of handholding. In my experience at Red Hat so far is that you have to put effort in here to be successful and compared to a more educational environment, that's not always the case.
